Coding Conf is a fictional one-day web development conference taking place on October 26, 2026 in Papine, Kingston. This project is a client-side registration system built with HTML5, CSS3 and vanilla JavaScript. The landing page (index.html) promotes the event and links to the registration form, and the registration page (login.html) collects and validates the attendee's name, email, GitHub handle and avatar image. After a valid submission, the ticket page (ticket.html) shows a personalized ticket with the saved details, and it redirects visitors to the landing page if no registration data is stored.
